

Nov. 17, 2021

Panel Discussion and Q&A:
GIS at UNCG

GIS Day at UNCG

GIS Day is an opportunity to share the work we do with Geographic Information Systems (GIS) and encourage others to explore how they can use it in their own work.

Research and Applications Webinar: Getting Started with GIS

Recording available at uncg.libguides.com/webinars/researchapplications

Geocaching Challenge

Register at go.uncg.edu/gisday or view on geocaching.com/geocache/GC9JD7W*

GIS Resource Guide

uncg.libguides.com/gis

*Coming soon!

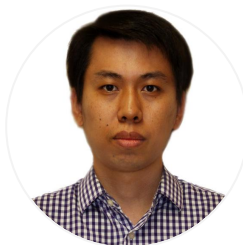

Evan B. Goldstein, Ph.D.
Research Scientist;
Department of Geography,
Environment, and Sustainability

Brian A. Robinson, Ph.D.
CLIR African American Studies
and Data Curation Fellow;
University Libraries

Wenliang (Will) Li, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor;
Department of Geography,
Environment, and Sustainability

Rajesh Sigdel, MS
Graduate Teaching Assistant;
Department of Geography,
Environment, and Sustainability

Sarah Praskievicz, Ph.D.
Associate Professor; Department of Geography, Environment, and Sustainability
Associate Director; Research and
Instruction in STEM Education (RISE)
Network
Academic Sustainability Coordinator;
Rivers and Water Resources Lab

Michael Swaim, MA, GISP
GIS Unit Leader;
Facilities Design &
Construction Department